Learning together – Empowered for life.

Dear Parents

Sixth Form Taster Day. Until Year 11 when students actually try post-16 study, it can all seem a bit abstract. So our Taster Day on Wednesday aimed to address this gap when the whole year group became Sixth Formers for the day and seemed to love every minute. Mr Mather was able to pop into every lesson, and each one had students fully engaged in new subjects, or excited by extending their learning beyond the constraints of the GCSE curriculum in more familiar areas. We blew their minds with Psychology, argued with them in Politics and nurtured their creative side in Film and Media.

All in all it gave Year 11 plenty to think about in terms of the subjects they wish to study, and provided a flavour of life after GCSE with our common room and garden well used too: our sixth form is a social place and we value having these shared recreational spaces that other colleges can't always provide.

Careers Evening Wow, what a crowd! Our Careers Evening last night saw record numbers of exhibitors and record numbers of visitors too. The aim is to provide a real range of employers, and that we certainly had with everything from British Airways and Microsoft in attendance as well as AWE, several universities and local employers too. There was a real buzz in the hall and I overheard conversations about a great many futures. Students ranging from year 7 to 13 were there and quite a few of the employers applauded the fact that younger students were as welcome as the older ones; they intrinsically understand that these conversations should start young and we echo that sentiment. So if you missed it, make sure you come next year when it should be even bigger and better, if you did come along, enjoy your swag: along with key rings, pens and jelly beans, I know others left with amazing Microsoft packs and a head full of options for the future.

Year 5 Maths Challenge. On Thursday 22nd November Charles Kingsley, Cranford Park, Elvetham Heath and Westfields sent teams of four Year 5 students to compete in the Yateley School Maths Challenge. They took on the roles of interplanetary traders trading goods and credits across a galaxy.

To maximise profit the teams had to work out the best routes, trades and exchange rates available at different planets. At the end of their journey Westfields had managed to more than triple their credits and well done to them in winning this challenge.

Application deadline. THERE IS ONLY A WEEK UNTIL THE SIXTH FORM DEADLINE CLOSES! Don't miss it. End of the day: 30th of November. Our Head Boys and Head Girls spoke to Year 11 last week about the reality of life in Yateley Sixth Form, and tacked ideas like it being the same as the lower school (it really isn't) as well as things like not meeting new people (you meet loads). They know the benefits of Yateley and are really keen to tell everyone about it. As ever, if you have any queries or questions about our Outstanding Sixth Form, please get in touch, but don't forget the deadline.....well over 100 have remembered it already.....

Student star of the week

Hannah Carpenter 7WN. Hannah has excelled with a fabulous first prize winning entry in our Poetry competition, writing on the theme of 'change'. Mrs Hood, Mrs Roaf and I have been hugely impressed by the number and calibre of the entries, although Hannah's has stood out for the brave and interesting subject matter and her willingness to tackle a very difficult and autobiographical topic with such maturity and flair. It doesn't make an easy read, but will leave a lasting impression – I have included it after this piece. Well done Hannah.

With my very best wishes.

Paul German

The Changing Person That I See

Who is this changing person that I see,
Standing in the mirror right in front of me.
You can tell that she has been through a lot for so long,
But throughout it all she has stayed strong.
Everything has changed in such a short time,
And she may have struggled but she is still in her prime.

At first it was fine and everything was cool,
But then kids from school started being really cruel.

Yateley School Parents' Bulletin

A move was certain, it just had to be done,
Even though she knew that she would miss everyone.
She started a new school and it was loads of fun,
But it was different and scary because she had only just begun.

Three long years she stayed and learnt,
But then the friendships got burnt.
The teachers tried to make things right,
But as hard as they tried they could not stop the fight.
No one could stop the relentless daily grind,
So she changed again, but home this time.

For once in her life a change was needed,
She was so sad and lonely that for change she pleaded.
She wanted more, friends galore,
No more home schooling for her, not anymore.
Who is this strong person that I see,
They are no other than me!

By Hannah Carpenter – 7WN

Superwork

Teachers never fail to be delighted by students who 'go the extra mile' and produce exceptional work. Hence Mrs Short's pleasure in receiving these (Sometimes edible) cell models from her Year 7 Science class. Promoting a love of learning is fundamentally what we are about. Kwame's advice on making university standard notes

I'm currently studying Human Rights Law at LSE and I've learnt how to take notes in a way that helps me learn a huge amount of information easily! Below is a demonstration of how I always make my notes look, using 'Lord of the Flies' as an example.

1. Draw a line

Before you write your notes, the first thing to do is draw a dotted line down the middle of the page. This is the maximum length your bullet point can be, so you have to make them short and punchy!

2. Don't overdo it

Reduce the amount of information on a page. Condense a sentence into five or six key trigger words which will be easier to remember. And because trigger words are the most crucial information, you know that what you're learning will get you marks in an exam.

3. Keep it colourful

Using colour in our notes can be a powerful tool to help us memorise. But don't just cover your notes randomly with highlighters! Use a colour-coding system to help you. For example, you might write all your key dates in red for History, or all of the key terms in your plant biology module in green. This will help create a visual association in your brain, making recalling the information easier.

4. A picture paints a thousand words

As colour-coding shows, visual notes are easier to remember. Everyone's brain is different, but in general we tend to be better at remembering pictures and images than words and numbers. Pairing some of your bullet points with a related image is an effective way of reinforcing the association because you've given yourself a visual stimulus as well as a verbal one.

NOTES TO PARENTS/CARERS

The law does not grant parents/carers an automatic right to take their children out of school during the term time. If the request is for absence in term time you must have Parental Responsibility and be the parent/carer with whom the child normally lives. Permission must be sought in advance. If the circumstances relating to this request are considered exceptional and the absence is authorised by the school, the authorising of the absence will be conditional based on the child(ren)'s satisfactory attendance up to the date covered by the request.

WARNING: If the school refuses your request and the child is still taken out of the school, this will be recorded as an unauthorised absence. A significant amount of unauthorised absence may make you liable to a Penalty Notice for each child, payable by each parent/carer, or the subject of court proceedings which could result in a fine of up to £2,500 and/or a term of imprisonment of up to 3 months.

AVOIDABLE ABSENCE IN TERM-TIME

IMPORTANT: Please read carefully the information below.

WARNING: If you allow your child to miss school in term time for an avoidable reason without obtaining the prior approval of the school, you may be issued with a Penalty Notice per parent per child, or made the subject of court proceedings under section 444 Education Act 1996.

As a parent/carer, you can demonstrate your commitment to your child's education by not allowing your child to miss school for anything other than an exceptional and unavoidable reason.

THE FACTS	THE LAW
Yateley School's students are expected to attend punctually on the 190 days that the school is open. Whilst there are a number of unavoidable reasons why a pupil might be away from school (illness, medical appointments, exclusions etc.), the legislation is clear that any avoidable absences may only be authorised by a school if there are exceptional circumstances. WHAT YOU SHOULD CONSIDER Research suggests that children who are taken out of school may never catch up on the learning they have missed. This may affect test results and can be particularly harmful if the child is studying for final year examinations. Children who struggle with English or Mathematics may also find it even harder to cope when they return to school, while younger children may find it difficult to renew friendships with their classmates If the school is unable to authorise the absence and the child is still taken out of school, this will be recorded as unauthorised absence and you may receive a fine per parent for each child.	The law allows schools to consider individual requests to authorise a future avoidable absence. However before the school can authorise any such requests, they must satisfy themselves that there are exceptional circumstances which justify such a decision. It is entirely the responsibility of the parent submitting the request to provide sufficient information/evidence in order to establish this fact. The request for leave must come from a parent with whom the child normally resides. If a child then stays away from school for more than the authorised periods this must be recorded as unauthorised absence and could be quoted in a prosecution for poor attendance. If the child is away from school for a total of four weeks or more, the school may have the option to take the child off roll subject to the Education (Pupil Registration) (England) Regulations 2008. In the case of unexpected extended absence, it is advisable that the parent fully informs the school as to the reasons. If a child is removed from roll, there is no guarantee that the child will regain a place at the school.

Examples of the type of absence may be granted if it is for the following reasons: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Genuine illness • Unavoidable medical/dental appointments (but try to make these after school if at all possible) • Days of religious observance • Seeing a parent who is on leave from the armed forces • External examinations 	Other examples of absences from school that will not be authorised <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Any type of shopping • Looking after siblings or unwell parents • Minding the house • Birthdays • Resting after a late night • Relatives visiting or visiting relatives • Holidays • Weddings
Please contact your child's Head of House if you wish to discuss this issue. The law requires parents to ensure their children receive an efficient full time education, and every minute of every day is important. Please help them not to miss any of this valuable time. We hope that when you have read this document you will consider that your child's education is too important to allow them to miss school for avoidable reasons. The final decision about whether a leave request is granted is with the Headteacher.
