1 Introduction

Why choose Edexcel A Level Drama and Theatre?

We have listened to feedback from all parts of the drama community, including higher education, teachers and subject groups.

We have used this opportunity of curriculum change to redesign a qualification that will engage students through encouraging creativity, focusing on practical work which reflects 21st-century theatre practice and developing skills that will support progression to further study of drama and a wide range of other subjects.

Clear and coherent structure – our qualification has a straightforward structure with three components, one that focuses on devising, one that focuses on performing or designing skills and one that focuses on practical exploration of texts to interpret them for performance.

Practical focus – the new specification focuses on the practical exploration of performance texts, including exploring them in light of the work of theatre practitioners. The performance texts that will be studied for the exam will require students to articulate how they would perform in certain roles, design for certain scenes and interpret a text for performance, putting practical work at the heart of the specification.

Engaging performance texts – we have picked a list of texts that will engage students and inspire teachers and students. We have avoided the most popular performance texts to ensure that students can still perform them in the non-examination assessment components.

Free choice of performance texts – the new specification will continue to allow you the freedom to choose performance texts that will best suit your students, their ability to access the work, their interests and their performance skills.

Clear and straightforward question papers – we have focused on ensuring that our question papers are clear and accessible for students and that mark schemes are straightforward in making the requirements clear.

Performance and design skills – we will continue to assess student's performance and design skills through visiting examiners ensuring students skills are assessed in a live context.

Supports progression from Key Stage 4 – we have developed this A Level qualification at the same time as our GCSE and AS Level qualifications. This ensures sensible progression of knowledge, understanding and skills from GCSE to AS to A Level and similar approaches to assessment, so that students will have a coherent experience of drama if they take Edexcel GCSE in Drama, AS Level in Drama and Theatre and A Level in Drama and Theatre.

Develops transferable skills for progression from A level – students will develop a multitude of skills, including collaboration, communication and an understanding of how to amend and refine work in order to make a smooth transition to their next level of study or employment.

AS and A Level qualifications that are co-teachable – co-teaching AS and A Level provides flexibility for you and your students.

Therefore texts may be subject to change and the list revised. In the event that a change is required, centres will be notified and, if required, a list of the appropriate alternative(s) will be posted on our website a year in advance (qualifications.pearson.com).

Please note that while resources are checked at the time of publication, materials may be withdrawn from circulation at any time. A list of appropriate alternative(s) will be provided on our website in the event that a named edition goes out of print.

Editions

Students must take in clean copies of list B texts and for the purposes of this qualification a clean copy is one that contains no additional marks, notes, annotations, or any other alteration or inclusion.

Different text and practitioner requirements

In addition to requiring the study of different texts, the qualification also requires the study of two different influential theatre practitioners (individuals or companies) in Components 1 and 3.

In order to ensure that all the text and practitioner requirements are met centres are required to submit their choices via an online form. This form must be submitted to Pearson at the beginning of the year of certification. Details are on our website: qualifications.pearson.com

Centres are reminded that if they do not submit their text and practitioner choices then this may result in malpractice/maladministration.

Centres have a free choice regarding the practitioner they use in Component 1 (see page 11 for details). For Component 3, the practitioner must be chosen from the list below.

Antonin Artaud	Kneehigh
Bertolt Brecht	Joan Littlewood
Steven Berkoff	Punchdrunk
Complicite	Constantin Stanislavski

Below is a summary of the text and practitioner requirements for this qualification.

Live performance statement

It is a requirement of this qualification for students to experience live theatre. Centres must make every effort possible for students to see live performance and confirm that they have done so to Pearson. Centres are free to make live theatre arrangements at any time during the delivery of the qualification before the external assessment. As the examination is at the end of the course, it would be more beneficial for students to see a live performance later on in the course. Please see pages 54–55 for more details about the live theatre requirements.

To ensure that this requirement is met, centres are required to submit a live performance statement via an online form. This form must be submitted to Pearson at the beginning of the year of certification using the same online form used to inform us of text choices (see page 7).

Details are on the subject page of our website:

<https://qualifications.pearson.com/en/qualifications/edexcel-a-levels/drama-and-theatre-2016.html>

Centres are reminded that if they do not submit a statement then it may result in malpractice/maladministration.

2 Subject content and assessment information

- the understanding that texts and extracts studied may represent a range of social, historical and cultural contexts
- the ability to analyse and evaluate their work and the work of others
- the ability to understand how performance texts can be interpreted and performed.

Performer and designer routes

Students may complete Component 1 and Component 2 as a performer or designer or combine these roles.

Component 1	Component 2
Student completes as a performer or designer	Student completes group performance as a performer or designer Student completes monologue or duologue as a performer or designer

Component 1: Devising

Overview

In this component students will develop their creative and exploratory skills to devise an original performance. The starting point for this devising process will be an extract from a performance text and an influential theatre practitioner.

In their creative explorations, students will learn how text can be manipulated to communicate meaning to audiences and they will begin the process of interpretation. They will gain an understanding of how a new performance could be developed through the practical exploration of the theatrical style and use of conventions of the chosen practitioner.

Content

There are three main areas of focus.

- 1) Interpreting, creating and developing a devised piece from one key extract from a performance text and applying the methods of one practitioner.
- 2) A group performance/design realisation of the devised piece.
- 3) Analysing and evaluating the creative process and devised performance.

Students may complete this component either as a performer or as a designer.

The design roles are:

- costume design
- lighting design
- set design
- sound design.

Centres wanting to offer design roles to students should refer to Appendix 3: Design roles minimum resource guidance requirements for centres.

Choice of text

Centres have a free choice when selecting the one key extract from a performance text. However they must take the following into consideration when choosing the text.

- Be professionally published and substantial, and have a running time of 60 minutes minimum.
- Offer students the opportunity to demonstrate exploratory range and depth that is appropriate to the level of demand for A Level study.
- Offer students the opportunity to access the demands of this component as a performer and/or designer.
- Have the degree of challenge, in terms of appropriateness of content, language, complexity of themes, and access to deeper social, historical and cultural contexts to enable students to achieve at A Level and meet the Assessment Objectives.
- Cannot be any prescribed text from the Component 3 list.

- Must be different from the text studied in Component 3 so that students study a range of performance texts. This means it must differ in at least one of the following ways:
 - o time period
 - o theatrical convention
 - o thematic content, form or structure
 - o playwright
 - o social, historical and cultural contexts.

For the purposes of this qualification, a key extract is defined as a scene or a moment that is significant to the text as a whole and at least 10 minutes in length when performed.

Centres should consider the skills, experience and prior learning of students in choosing text that will engage their interest throughout the considerable preparation and rehearsal time needed for this component.

Choice of practitioner

Centres have a free choice when selecting a practitioner. For the purposes of this qualification, a practitioner is an individual or a company that has an established and defined approach to the creation of performance, and which creates both theatrical performances and theory that informs this practical work. As with the text choice, the choice of practitioner must:

- be chosen so it offers students the opportunity to demonstrate exploratory range and depth to is appropriate to the level of demand for A Level study
- offer students the opportunity to access the demands of this component as a performer and/or designer
- have the degree of challenge, in terms of appropriateness of content, language, complexity of themes, access to deeper social, historical and cultural contexts to enable students to achieve at A Level and meet the Assessment Objectives.

The choice of practitioner must not be the same as the one chosen in Component 3. However, centres are free to use any of the other practitioners in the Component 3 list for use in Component 1, or centres can choose a different practitioner, for example Katie Mitchell, Frantic Assembly, Grotowski or Forced Entertainment.

Centres are reminded that they must complete the online form regarding text and practitioner choices, please refer to page 7 for details.

Group sizes and time limits

Students must work in a group. Groups must have between three and six performance students. In addition, there can be up to one designer per role, per group.

All students must be assessed as individuals.

The regulatory requirements are that groups must complete a minimum performance time of 6 minutes for this component.

The recommended minimum performance times have been provided to ensure that each student within the group has sufficient time to evidence their skills for this component.

Group size	Recommended minimum performance times	Maximum performance times
3–4 performance students	15 minutes	20 minutes
5–6 performance students	20 minutes	30 minutes

Centres should be aware that performance times that are between the regulatory minimum (6 minutes) and the recommended minimums (15 or 20 minutes) may not allow students to evidence their skills fully in order to access all levels of the assessment criteria.

Meeting the performance timings

Students (performance and design) who do not meet the regulatory minimum performance requirement of 6 minutes will be assessed by teachers against the assessment criteria on pages 27, 29, 31 and 32; however students will not be able to achieve beyond Level 2.

Teachers will be required to stop marking after the maximum performance time has passed.

Failure to accurately record the performance times on the authentication sheet (see Appendix 1) may result in staff/centre malpractice. For further information about this, please see the Administration and general information section in this specification.

1) Devising: interpreting, creating and developing from a complete text and applying the methods of a practitioner

Devising from text is not a re-interpretation of the original text performed in a different style, genre or time period/setting. It must be completely original work which uses the one key extract as a source for ideas only.

Students should undertake exploration of one key extract from a performance text where they interpret, create and develop ideas with the aim of devising an original piece for performance. This exploration should involve placing the key extract in the context of the whole text and also an investigation of one practitioner, in order to apply their methods to the devised piece. There are no limits to the scope of the interpretation. However, students must be given opportunities to know and understand how a specific interpretative process can be developed from given sources and how key elements of a performance text and practitioner methodology can remain a part of the creative process of devising. They must also explore the theatrical practices and processes involved in interpreting a text.

Students should be given the opportunity to devise in a collaborative group context, so that they establish an ensemble where ideas and methods are shared and developed. Although the starting point for this work is given, students can build in other stimuli and other practitioners as appropriate.

Before starting their own process of interpreting and devising, students should take part in teacher-led workshops and classes that define the elements of interpretive work on text and practice, including:

- deconstruction of text: analysis of themes, content, structure
- key scenes or turning points in the narrative
- relationship with audience; the nature of the communication
- style of the text and how it fits into a wider genre
- character and characterisation.

Students must develop a range of practical techniques and skills needed to develop and realise the devised performance. The devised performance could incorporate one or more of the following elements of the key extract:

- form
- structure
- character(s)
- dialogue
- themes/issues and ideas.

The influence of the chosen practitioner must be evident in the devised performance and this can be shown through application of their methodologies, approaches, theatrical style and/or use of conventions. These could incorporate one or more of the following elements:

- imitate or emulate the performance style and/or use of theatrical conventions of the practitioner
- implement the working methodology/methodologies (evidenced through the portfolio and the performance)
- adapting the text to match the philosophy of the practitioner's performance style and/or use of theatrical conventions
- show some key moments from a practitioner's oeuvre in the performance.

Workshops and classes need to give students the opportunity to build these skills and techniques. These workshops could explore the work of companies, practitioners and individual artists who specialise in devising new work and then apply these ways of working to the stimulus.

Knowledge and understanding

Students must acquire, develop and apply knowledge and understanding to be able to:

- apply research to inform practical work by organising and researching topics, presenting findings, finding narratives and stories, photographs and films that illustrate the themes and ideas
- select key aspects of their research to be put into their original piece
- deconstruct the dramatic elements that make up a performance text
- explore how meaning in performance texts can be informed by social, historical and cultural contexts
- isolate specific themes and ideas, deciding what themes are to be emphasised
- connect their own experiences of live theatre to their own practice and decisions, applying relevant depth of research, independent thought and analysis
- select an appropriate style and genre, possibly connected to the chosen practitioner
- understand the impact they want to have on an audience by the form and style they are using
- shape the drama giving considerations to pace, tempo, order of scenes, finished scripts, desired impact on audience, alternative theatre spaces.

Also students must know how performance texts are constructed to conveying meaning through:

- style, structure, language and stage directions
- character construction and interpretation
- use of performance space and spatial relationships on stage
- relationships between performers and audience
- use of design elements.

In addition to this for the practitioner, students must acquire, develop and apply knowledge and understanding to be able to:

- know how a practice developed in a different social, historical and cultural context can be understood and adapted to a contemporary age and audience
- make detailed connections between theory and practice in a range of periods, theatrical styles, social, historical and cultural contexts
- recognise and apply the practitioner methodology to their own work.

They must acquire knowledge and understanding of how their chosen practitioner has used the following to convey meaning through:

- the social and historical contexts that shaped the theatre practice
- the ideas, theatrical purpose, practice and working methodologies underpinning their work
- the realisation of their artistic intention
- the use of theatrical style and use of conventions
- collaboration with and influence on other practitioners
- how the relationship with audiences is defined in theory and then carried out in practice.

Devising skills

The processes outlined above will equip students with appropriate devising skills. These skills can be summarised as being able to help realise artistic intention through:

- deconstructing ideas, themes and narratives that make up the stimuli
- developing methods that interpret the stimuli, being able to reposition it and see it differently
- carrying out in-depth research to inform and develop ideas and creativity
- giving and responding to ideas in a group context.

Students can develop their exploratory skills through:

- workshops
- rehearsal
- taught classes
- individual research
- watching live theatre.

2) The group devised performance/design realisation

At the culmination of their interpreting, creating and developing process, students must perform their devised piece or realise a design during the performance (please see the design roles section below for more information relating to designers). The rehearsal process should be teacher-led and the performance should take place in front of an appropriate audience.

Centres are free to identify the audience and venue for the performance, this could include:

- performance to the rest of the class or another class within the centre
- performance to an invited external audience.

Performers must acquire, develop and apply the following skills:

- refining and amending work in progress with the aim to realising their artistic intentions
- rehearsing and learning lines
- characterisation through:
 - o vocal expression: use of clarity, pace, inflection, pitch and projection
 - o physicality: use of space, gesture, stillness and stance
- contact, relationships and communication with other performers on stage (proxemics)
- communication and engagement with the audience.

Students must be supervised when developing these processes. Teachers should adopt a facilitating role for the devised performance(s) but they are not allowed to direct performance(s). They can give guidance during the practical work and the preparation for the performance(s) but not during the performance(s).

When in a facilitating role, teachers are allowed to:

- help students with interpreting assessment information, e.g. explaining the assessment criteria and the requirements of the component
- intervene if a health and safety issue arises
- intervene if a risk to security of evidence arises
- undertake a management role in relation to managing time, space, resources
- ask questions to stimulate independent thought without leading students.

When in a facilitating role, teachers are not allowed to:

- offer coaching
- direct students
- undertake an artistic/creative role
- give solutions to artistic/creative problems
- make artistic/creative decisions.

Students should take into consideration any health and safety implications as appropriate.

3) Analysis and evaluation the creative process and devised performance

All students must acquire and apply the ability to analyse and evaluate the process of creating and developing their own live theatrical work and the effectiveness of the outcome. Students must analyse and evaluate:

- ideas explored and research undertaken
- decisions made and the rationale behind them
- their collaborative involvement
- content, genre, structure, character, form, style, and language
- the final performance and the effectiveness of their contribution to it
- the realisation of their intentions.

All students must also know and understand, and be able to use appropriate subject-specific terminology in their analysis and evaluation.

Design roles

Designers are expected to work collaboratively with a group of performers within their chosen area of design.

Where a student is assessed in the role of a designer, it is their design skill that is the focus of the assessment, rather than their technical competence in the operation or use of equipment. Designs elements should be suitably theatrical and work in sympathy with other design features (if appropriate). Designs should also take into consideration actor/audience relationships and health and safety implications as appropriate.

Designers will be expected to produce evidence for the portfolio of their design skills that reflect the context of the selected elements of the text and the methods of the influential theatre practitioner; these skills will be applied in the devised performance.

There is a maximum of one designer per role, per group.

Designers must also acquire, develop and apply the following skills:

- work collaboratively within the devising ensemble
- make appropriate judgements during the devising process
- develop and articulate a design concept
- make appropriate design choices within the context of a performance to an audience
- use and apply design skills to contribute to the performance as a whole
- demonstrate the ability to apply design skills and materials effectively in the context of a performance to an audience.

A list of the requirements for each design skill for this component is given on the next page.

Component 1 – requirements for design skills

NB: Centres are reminded that any appropriate evidence produced in line with the requirements above should also be sent to the moderator as part of the design students' portfolio.

Assessment information

This component is internally assessed and externally moderated. It is worth 80 marks and AO1, AO2 and AO4 are assessed.

First assessment: 2018

There are two parts to the assessment.

- 1) A portfolio containing evidence of:
 - o interpreting, creating and developing a devised piece from one key extract from a performance text and applying the methods of a practitioner (AO1)
 - o analysing and evaluating the creative process and the devised performance (AO4).
- 2) A recording of the group devised performance (AO2).

The portfolio

All students must produce a portfolio documenting and reflecting on their exploratory process and the skills and techniques that they have developed in response to the text, and the influence of their chosen theatre practitioner.

The portfolio is worth 60 marks. AO1 and AO4 are assessed – AO1 is worth 40 marks and AO4 is worth 20 marks.

The portfolio is marked by the teacher and sent to the moderator if requested as part of the sample, along with the accompanying performance recording.

The portfolio must be the student's own work.

Each portfolio must cover the following:

- an exploration of the chosen text and practitioner
- an analysis and evaluation of the student's contribution to the devising process through their ability to create and develop ideas as theatre makers
- an analysis and evaluation of the student's ability to make connections between the chosen text/practitioner and their intended aims and objectives
- an understanding of social, historical and cultural contexts.

Each student must include responses to the following statements:

- outline your initial response to the key extract and practitioner and track how it was developed throughout the devising process
- connect your research material/s to key stages in the development process and to performance outcomes
- evaluate how your chosen role/s emerged and developed from initial ideas through to the final performance
- analyse how your contribution was influenced by the selected theatre practitioner and/or theatre makers, and the impact live theatre has had on your own practical work
- discuss how social, historical and cultural context has impacted on your work
- evaluate the creative choices you made and whether or not they were successful in performance.

Portfolios may include any of the following elements:

- annotations and notes
- audio and/or video evidence
- annotated drawings and sketches
- annotated photographs
- extended written responses.

It is recommended that the portfolio be submitted as:

- handwritten/typed evidence between 2500 and 3000 words

or

- recorded/verbal evidence between 12 and 14 minutes

or

- a combination of handwritten/typed evidence (between 1250 and 1500 words) and recorded/verbal evidence (between 6 and 7 minutes).

It is strongly advised that the upper word/time limits are adhered to by students to enable them to satisfy the requirement to produce a concise and coherently structured portfolio.

When students are working on producing their portfolio teachers must follow these rules:

- students must be directly supervised for a sufficient portion of the creation of the portfolio to allow teachers to confidently authenticate each student's work
- teachers should not write any part of a student's portfolio
- teachers may help students to understand the assessment requirements and the assessment criteria
- teachers can provide feedback once on one draft version for the portfolio before it is handed in to be marked
- the focus of this feedback must only be on the requirements of the portfolio and the Assessment Objectives
- any additional feedback must be recorded on the Non-examination assessment authentication sheet (please see Appendix 1).

The devised performance/realisation of design

The devised performance is marked by the teacher and this performance must be recorded unedited. Please refer to Appendix 4: Best practice when recording performance. This recorded evidence must be sent to the moderator if requested as part of the sample along with the accompanying portfolios.

The group performance/design realisation is worth 20 marks. AO2 is assessed.

A realisation of each design candidate's work must be seen and assessed in the performance.

Teachers must not give support and guidance during the performance.

Performers will be assessed on their ability to realise artistic intentions through their:

- use of vocal and physical skills
- use of characterisation and communication.

Designers will be assessed on their ability to realise artistic intentions through their:

- use of design skills
- understanding of communication and context.

Non-assessed individuals

Non-assessed individuals should be used only when:

- the total number of students in the cohort does not meet the minimum group size requirement
- a student has withdrawn from the performance near to the assessment date
- a student is absent on the day of the assessment.

Non-assessed individuals may be used to read out the lines of the absent student(s) to support the performance group. Please note that a non-assessed individual may be a class peer, student from a different year group or a member of staff. Assessed and non-assessed individuals must be clearly identified at the start of the recorded evidence to aid moderation.

Permission must be sought from Pearson in advance for the inclusion of non-assessed individuals. Please email your requests to drama.assessment@pearson.com. A copy of the email from Drama Assessment must be included with the work sent to the moderator.

Resources

Students must have equal access to IT resources and other equipment, as appropriate. Students should have access to a range of resources to enable them to make choices as required for their tasks.

Authenticity

Students and teachers must sign the Non-examination assessment authentication sheet (please see Appendix 1). All sources must be acknowledged.

Marking, standardisation and moderation

Teachers should mark this component using the assessment criteria on the following pages. Teachers may annotate students' work but should also include any comments on the Appendix 1: Non-examination assessment authentication sheet to justify the marks awarded. Any annotations made by the teacher are to be left on the portfolio.

Where marking has been carried out by more than one teacher in a centre, there must be a process of internal standardisation carried out to ensure that there is a consistent application of the assessment criteria.

Marks awarded by the centre will be subject to external moderation by Pearson. Moderation will ensure consistency with national standards and will include a review of assignments to ensure that the assignment-setting rules have been correctly applied by centres. Pearson will notify centres of the students whose work has been selected for moderation. This sample will take cohort size into account. Detailed instructions will be made available for teacher-assessed non-examination assessment and this will include instructions regarding:

- internal standardisation
- materials required for submission (such as timesheets and authentication forms, or additional design skills documentation submitted as part of the design students' portfolio)
- the required sample of candidates (the highest and lowest scoring candidates and a range in between).

In addition to this, centre marking training will be organised by Pearson and will include training on the administrative requirements and best practice.

Moderators of non-examination assessment components will be trained in the administrative arrangements that are required of centres and will be instructed to inform Pearson of any maladministration or malpractice concerns during the process of moderation.

If the moderation indicates that centre assessment does not reflect national standards, an adjustment will be made to students' final marks to compensate.

For further information refer to the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) document Instructions for conducting non-examination assessments (new GCE and GCSE specifications) on the JCQ website: www.jcq.org.uk. The assessment of this qualification must comply with these instructions.

Consortium arrangements

If you are a centre that will be part of a consortium, your students will be treated as a single group for the purposes of non-examination assessment moderation.

You need to identify a consortium co-ordinator who must ensure that internal standardisation is carried out by all the teachers involved in each component.

We will allocate the same moderator to every centre within the consortium for a particular component, with confirmation or adjustment of marks being applied to all centres within the consortium.

Centres must register their consortium arrangements using the JCQ centre consortium form available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/forms/centre-consortium-arrangements-form which then must be sent to Pearson.

Non-examination Assessment criteria

Teachers must mark students' work using the assessment criteria on the following pages.

Marking guidance

- All students must receive the same treatment. Teachers must mark the last student in exactly the same way as they mark the first.
- The assessment criteria should be applied positively. Students must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than be penalised for omissions.
- All the marks on the assessment criteria are designed to be awarded. Teachers should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the work matches the assessment criteria. Teachers should be prepared to award zero marks if the student's work is not worthy of credit according to the assessment criteria.

Placing a mark within a level

- Teachers should first decide which descriptor most closely matches the work and place it in that level. The mark awarded within the level will be decided based on the quality of the work and will be modified according to how securely all bullet points are displayed at that level.
- In cases of uneven performance, the points above will still apply. Students will be placed in the level that best describes their work according to the descriptors in that level.
- If work meets the requirements fully, markers should be prepared to award full marks within the level. The top mark in the level is used for work that is as good as can realistically be expected within that level.
- If work only barely meets the requirements of the level, markers should consider awarding marks at the bottom of the level. The bottom mark in the level is used for work that is the weakest that can be expected within that level.
- The middle marks of the level are used for work that is a reasonable match to the descriptor. This might represent a balance between some characteristics of the level that are fully met and others that are only barely met.

Marking instructions

In AO4, analysis is required in order to reach evaluative judgements and conclusions in the context of student's own work.

Evidence presented should show a balanced consideration between analysis and evaluation, and marks are equally distributed across these two elements.

Responses that demonstrate isolated analysis without leading to evaluation can only achieve a maximum of 4 marks.

Security and backups

It is the centre's responsibility to keep the work that students have submitted for assessment secure.

Secure storage is defined as a securely-locked cabinet or cupboard. Where students are producing artefacts, secure storage is defined as a classroom studio or workshop that is locked or supervised from the end of one session to the start of the next.

The rules on storage also apply to electronic data. For example, centres should collect memory sticks for secure storage between sessions or restrict student access to specific areas of the centre's IT network.

For materials stored electronically, centres are strongly advised to utilise firewall protection and virus-checking software, and to employ an effective backup strategy, so that an up-to-date archive of students' evidence is maintained.

Further information

For up-to-date advice on teacher involvement and administration of non-examination assessment, please refer to the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ) document Instructions for conducting non-examination assessments (new GCE and GCSE specifications) available on the JCQ website: www.jcq.org.uk

Component 2: Text in Performance

Overview

Students will develop and demonstrate theatre-making skills, appropriate to their role as a performer or designer. They will explore how they realise artistic intentions in performance.

The knowledge and understanding acquired through the study of one key extract from a performance text in Component 1 can be applied to assist in the interpretation, development and realisation of key extracts from performance texts.

Teaching and wider reading should address the significance and influence of social, historical and cultural contexts on the chosen texts and extracts.

Content

There are two areas of focus.

- 1) A monologue or a duologue performance/design realisation from one key extract from one performance text.
- 2) A group performance/design realisation of one key extract from a different performance text.

Students may complete this component either as a performer or as a designer or combine these roles.

The design roles are:

- costume design
- lighting design
- set design
- sound design.

Centres wanting to offer design roles to students should refer to Appendix 3: Design roles minimum resource guidance for centres.

Text and extract choice

Centres have a choice when selecting texts. However, the two key extracts must be from two different performance texts, these texts must meet the following criteria.

- Be professionally published, substantial and have a running time of at least 60 minutes.
- Be chosen so it offers students the opportunity to demonstrate exploratory range and depth.
- Offer students the opportunity to access the demands of this component as a performer and/or designer.
- Have the degree of challenge, in terms of appropriateness of content, complexity of themes, deeper social, historical and cultural contexts to enable students to achieve at A level and meet the Assessment Objective.
- Be different from the texts studied in Component 1 and Component 3, so students study a range of performance texts.
- Cannot be any prescribed text from the Component 3 lists.

The performance texts chosen could be different in terms of their:

- time period
- theatrical convention/genre
- thematic content, form/structure and style
- playwright
- social, historical and cultural contexts.

Centres may select performance texts by a playwright already studied in Components 1 and 3 provided there is a difference between these texts. They should consider the skills, experience and prior learning of students in choosing texts that will engage students' interest throughout the considerable preparation and rehearsal time needed for this Component.

Students must study two key extracts from two different performance texts. For the purposes of this qualification, a key extract is defined as a scene or a moment that is significant to the text as a whole and at least 10 minutes in length when performed. This can take the form of a continuous dialogue/scene, or edited extracts, for example abridging the extract to match the number of performers in a group. For the monologue/duologue, the extract chosen may be edited to provide the required amount of material, but must provide a coherent monologue or duologue.

Students are required to perform/realise a design for all or part of these key extracts, following the time limit requirements below. Centres can choose different performance texts, all students are not required to study the same texts.

Centres should consider the skills, experience and prior learning of students in choosing texts that will engage their interest throughout the considerable preparation and rehearsal time needed for this component.

Centres are reminded that they must complete a form regarding text choice, please refer to page 7 for details.

Group sizes and time limits

All students must be assessed as individuals.

Monologue and duologue

The regulatory requirements are that students must meet the minimum performance times below.

Number of performers	Minimum performance times	Maximum performance times
Monologue (1 performer)	2 minutes	3 minutes
Duologue (2 performers)	5 minutes	6 minutes

Group performance

A group must have between a minimum of three and maximum of six performance students. In addition there can be up to one designer per role, per group.

The regulatory requirements are that groups must complete a minimum performance time of 6 minutes for this component.

The recommended minimum performance times have been provided to ensure that each student within the group has sufficient time to evidence their skills for this component.

Group size	Recommended minimum performance times	Maximum performance times
3–4 performance students	20 minutes	30 minutes
5–6 performance students	35 minutes	45 minutes

Centres should be aware that performance times that are between the regulatory minimum (6 minutes) and the recommended minimums (20 or 35 minutes) may not allow students to evidence their skills fully in order to access all levels of the assessment criteria.

Meeting the performance timings

For students (performance and design) who do not meet the regulatory minimum performance requirement of 2, 5 and/or 6 minutes the examiner will use their professional judgement against the AO2 assessment criteria based on what the student has achieved and then the total mark will be reduced proportionally according to how many seconds the work is under length.

The proportional time penalty will be applied, by Pearson Edexcel, after the work has been marked by the teacher and externally moderated, using the conversion tables in Appendix 5.

Examiners will be instructed to stop marking after the maximum performance time has passed.

The performances/design realisations

Students must draw on their experiences of the exploration and rehearsal process in order to present coherent, well considered interpretations of the two key extracts in their performances. These interpretations must include placing the key extracts in the context of the whole performance texts.

Knowledge and understanding

Students (as performers or designers) are required to:

- read and research their chosen extracts
- understand social, historical and cultural contexts, style and genres, thematic content, contemporary practice and theatre makers
- develop textual understanding to communicate well-considered and coherent interpretations of text in performance.

Also students must know how performance texts are constructed to convey meaning through:

- style, structure, language and stage directions
- character construction and interpretation
- use of performance space and spatial relationships on stage
- relationships between performers and audience
- use of design elements.

Skills

Students (as performers or designers) must acquire, develop and apply skills in:

- working independently or collaboratively as performers or designers to interpret text, in rehearsal and in performance
- making appropriate judgements about the interpretation of texts in performance
- researching and developing ideas
- demonstrating the ability to apply acting/design skills effectively in the context of a performance to an audience.

Performers must also acquire, develop and apply the following skills:

- refining and amending work in progress with the aim to realising their artistic intentions
- rehearsing and learning lines
- characterisation through:
 - o vocal expression: use of clarity, pace, inflection, pitch and projection
 - o physicality: use of space, gesture, stillness and stance
- contact, relationships and communication with other performers on stage (proxemics)
- communication and engagement with the audience.

Requirements for performances/design realisations

All performances/design realisations should take place in front of an appropriate audience and must be recorded. Centres are free to identify their own suitable audience and venue for the performance, this could include:

- performance to the rest of the class or another class within the centre
- performance to an invited external audience.

Monologue and duologue performances/design realisations

Teachers should adopt a facilitating role but they are not allowed to direct performance(s). They can give guidance during the practical work and the preparation for the performance(s) but not during the performance(s) itself.

When in a facilitating role, teachers are allowed to:

- help students with interpreting assessment information, e.g. explaining the assessment criteria and the requirements of the component
- intervene if a health and safety issue arises
- intervene if a risk to security of evidence arises
- undertake a management role in relation to managing time, space, resources
- ask questions to stimulate independent thought without leading students.

When in a facilitating role, teachers are not allowed to:

- offer coaching
- direct students
- undertake an artistic/creative role
- give solutions to artistic/creative problems
- make artistic/creative decisions.

Group performances/design realisations

Teachers should adopt a facilitating role and may direct. They may direct and give guidance during the practical work and the preparation for performance(s) but not during the performance(s).

When directing, teachers are allowed to:

- interpret and structure the text as written to meet the demands of the examination (time limits etc.)
- suggest solutions to artistic and creative problems referring to the assessment criteria if appropriate
- make artistic and creative decisions referring to the assessment criteria if appropriate (however, they should not make direct judgements about the assessment criteria or allocate marks).

Students should also take into consideration any health and safety implications as appropriate.

Design roles

Designers are expected to work collaboratively with a group of performers (and other designers, if appropriate) within their chosen area of design.

Where a student is assessed in the role of a designer, it is their design skill that is the focus of the assessment, rather than their technical competence in the operation or use of equipment.

The performance texts should provide sufficient challenges for design students to enable them to meet the demands of this component. Design elements should be suitably theatrical and work in sympathy with other design features. All designs should also take into consideration actor/audience relationships and health and safety implications as appropriate.

There is a maximum of one designer per role, per group.

Designers must also acquire, develop and apply the following skills:

- make appropriate judgements during the development process
- develop and articulate a design concept
- make appropriate design choices within the context of a performance to an audience
- use design skills to contribute to the performance as a whole
- demonstrate the ability to apply design skills and materials effectively within the context of a performance to an audience.

A list of the requirements for each design skill for this component is given on the next page.

Component 2 – requirements for design skills
Requirements	Costume design	Lighting design	Set design	Sound design
Design skills	Mono or duo: Final costume designs for one character, incorporating hair, makeup and mask considerations as appropriate. All sourcing must be based wholly on the student's design(s).	Mono or duo: Final lighting design incorporating grid plans and a lantern schedule that indicates the use of two different lighting states.	Mono or duo: Drawings of the final design to be realised in the performance space and any relevant props.	Mono or duo: Source sheet showing two sound cues – original, live or found sound effects as appropriate.
	Group: Final costume designs for two different characters, incorporating hair, makeup and mask considerations as appropriate. All sourcing must be based wholly on the student's design(s).	Group: Final lighting design incorporating grid plans and a lantern schedule that indicates the use of three different lighting states.	Group: 1:25 scale model of the final design to be realised in the performance space and any props as appropriate.	Group: Source sheet showing three sound effects – original, live or found sound effects as appropriate.
Additional documentation	For both performances: a costume plot or list of costumes/accessories worn by each actor indicating any changes as appropriate.	For both performances: a lighting plot or cue sheet incorporating a range of transitional devices as appropriate.	For both performances: a ground plan of the performance space to scale, including entrances and exits, audience positioning and stage furniture (as appropriate).	For both performances: a cue sheet showing the source, order, length and output level of each cue.
Supervision	The student must supervise the construction, buying, dyeing altering, hiring and/or finding of the designed costumes as appropriate.	The student must supervise the rigging, focusing, programming (if applicable) and operating of the design as appropriate.	The student must supervise the construction, painting, hiring and/or finding of scenic elements required to meet the requirements of their design as appropriate.	The student must supervise the operation of the sound as appropriate but need not operate the sound themselves.
Performance	A realisation of the costume design in both performances.	A realisation of the lighting design in both performances.	A realisation of the set design in both performances.	A realisation of the sound design in both performances.
NB: Centres are reminded that any appropriate evidence produced in line with the requirements above should also be made available to the visiting examiner when they make their visit.

Assessment information

This component is externally assessed by a visiting examiner. It is worth 60 marks and AO2 is assessed.

First assessment: 2018

The performances must be recorded by the centre and unedited. Please refer to Appendix 4: Best practice when recording performance. This recorded evidence is to be given or sent to the examiner.

The monologue or duologue performance/design realisation is worth 24 marks. AO2 is assessed.

The group performance/design realisation is worth 36 marks. AO2 is assessed.

A realisation of each design candidate's work must be seen and assessed in both performances.

Teachers cannot give support and guidance during the performances.

All centres must provide their visiting examiner before their visit with the following information:

- copies of the performance text to be performed with the key extracts and pieces to be performed highlighted
- indication of group numbers and performance lengths
- character/design role information for each student to be assessed
- the performance texts chosen for Component 1 and 3 (in order for the different text requirement to be checked)
- a brief explanation by each student of the intention for each performance or design (150–250 words per key extract studied).

The explanation must include the following:

- for performance students (150–250 words per character played)
 - what role(s) are you playing?
 - what is happening to your character(s) in the key extract?
 - how does the key extract relate to the context of the whole play?
 - what are your character's objectives/motivations/feelings?
 - how are you interpreting this character(s) in performance? (i.e. vocal, physical, communication of intent)
- for design students (150–250 words per extract designed for)
 - what design role are you fulfilling?
 - what is your central design concept in the key extract?
 - how does the key extract relate to the context of the whole play?
 - how have you interpreted this key extract through your design?
 - what are you hoping to communicate to the audience?

Performers will be assessed on their ability to realise artistic intentions through the:

- use of vocal and physical skills
- use of characterisation and communication
- interpretation of text.

Designers will be assessed on their ability to realise artistic intentions through the:

- use of design skills
- understanding of context and communication
- interpretation of text.

Non-assessed individuals

Non-assessed individuals should be used only when:

- the total number of students in the cohort does not meet the minimum group size requirement
- a student has withdrawn from the performance near to the assessment date
- a student is absent on the day of the assessment.

Non-assessed individuals may be used to read out the lines of the absent student(s) to support the performance group. Please note that a non-assessed individual may be a class peer, student from a different year group or a member of staff. Assessed and non-assessed individuals must be clearly identified at the start of the recorded evidence to aid moderation.

Permission must be sought from Pearson in advance for the inclusion of non-assessed individuals. Please email your requests to drama.assessment@pearson.com. A copy of the email from Drama Assessment must be included with the work sent to the moderator.

Non-examination Assessment criteria

Component 3: Theatre Makers in Practice

Overview

Theatre is a collaborative art form and it is important that students have a clear understanding of how different creative ideas are put into practice. This component requires students to consider, analyse and evaluate how different theatre makers create impact. Throughout this component, students will consider how production ideas and dramatic elements are communicated to an audience from the perspective of a director, a performer and a designer.

Students will critically analyse and evaluate their experience of live performance. As an informed member of the audience they will deconstruct theatrical elements which will help inform their own production choices and develop their own ideas as potential theatre makers.

Students will practically explore texts in order to demonstrate how ideas for performance and production might be realised from page to stage. They will also consider the methodologies of practitioners and interpret texts in order to justify their own ideas for a production concept. Students will research the original performance conditions and gain an understanding of how social, historical and cultural contexts have informed their decisions as theatre makers.

Content

There are three areas to be covered.

- 1) A live theatre evaluation.
- 2) Page to stage: realisation of a complete performance text.
- 3) Interpreting one complete performance text, in light of one practitioner for a contemporary audience.

1) Live Theatre Evaluation

Students will reflect on their experience as an informed member of an audience at a live theatre performance, enabling them to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of performance through analysis and evaluation. When choosing a performance the following criteria should be taken into consideration.

- While both amateur and professional productions are acceptable, it is not acceptable to evaluate the work of other students for this assessment.
- The live theatre performance cannot be a performance text that is on the prescribed list of this specification.
- It should ideally demonstrate a range of production elements e.g. costume, set, sound, and lighting.
- The production should present opportunities for students to discuss the work of key theatre makers, for example directors, performers and designers.
- The production must provide opportunities for students to use a subject-specific vocabulary.

For the purposes of this qualification live theatre means being in the same performance space as the performers. It does not include any performance that is sung-through in its entirety. The performance can be an amateur or professional production as long as the choice enables students to access the demands of this component.

It is desirable for students to see as much live theatre as possible throughout the course, although only one performance will be written about in the examination.

Centres are reminded that they must provide a live performance statement to Pearson, please see page 8. If there are extreme extenuating circumstances regarding the access of live theatre, for example the occurrence of natural disasters or students are hospitalised, then centres need to apply for special arrangements to allow for a suitable live theatre alternative such as National Theatre Live or other live theatre broadcast. Applications should be made via the email drama.assessment@pearson.com.

Notes

Students are allowed to bring in theatre evaluation notes of up to a maximum of 500 words. These notes must be focused on one performance only and include the details of the title, venue and date seen. These notes should help them to demonstrate knowledge and understanding as an informed member of the audience.

These notes may include reference to:

- performers, including performers in specific roles
- design considerations, including the use of costume, set, lighting and sound
- the director's concept/interpretation and the chosen performance style
- impact on the audience, including, specifically, on the student, and how this was achieved
- the use of the theatre space
- how ideas were communicated during the performance.

Sketches, drawings and diagrams may also be included in the notes and used to support the response to the question if required.

No pre-published material, including programmes and photographs, may be taken into the examination or form part of the notes.

Notes may be handwritten or word processed but the total word limit must not be exceeded.

Notes must not be submitted with the examination paper, but retained by the centre and kept until after post-results services deadline.

The notes must be attached to the form provided in Appendix 2.

Knowledge and understanding

Students are required to:

- understand the processes and practices used in 21st-century theatre making
- participate as an informed member of the audience while watching live theatre
- understand and experience the collaborative relationship between various roles in theatre
- understand how choices made by directors, performers and designers influence how meaning and ideas are communicated to an audience
- make critical and evaluative judgements that show understanding of how the meaning of a text might be interpreted and communicated to an audience
- how meaning is conveyed through:
 - the use of performance space and spatial relationships on stage
 - the relationships between performers and audience
 - the performer's vocal and physical interpretation of character
- know, understand and use relevant subject-specific terminology.

Skills

Students must acquire, develop and apply skills in:

- interpreting, analysing and evaluating the work of various theatre makers
- forming critical judgements about live theatre, based on their understanding of drama and theatre
- analysing the ways in which different performance and production elements are brought together to create theatre
- using of subject-specific terminology in a range of contexts.

2) Page to Stage: realisation of one key extract from a performance text

Students must practically explore a performance text (from list A below) to consider how theatrical ideas might be realised in performance and communicated to an audience. They will need to consider how performers and designers use theatrical conventions and dramatic elements to realise ideas from the page to the stage.

Students will respond to an unseen extract from their chosen performance text in the examination. They will be asked to consider a possible staging of the selected unseen extract and the intended impact their creative ideas will have on an audience.

The unseen extract will be from a scene or moment that is significant to the text as a whole. Extracts will normally be between 80–110 lines long (this includes spoken dialogue and stage directions). Please note performance texts are not permitted in the examination.

Centres must choose one of the following performance texts.

*The prescribed editions will be used to reproduce extracts for examination purposes. Centres are free to choose a different edition for teaching purposes.

Centres are reminded that they must complete a form regarding text choice, please refer to page 7 for details.

Practical work should include, as appropriate, the exploration of:

- characterisation of key roles including the use of physicality and voice
- staging, levels and proxemics
- stage space
- entrances and exits
- visual and non-verbal forms of communication
- design elements
- relationship between actor and audience
- ways in which the playwright has structured the text and uses elements such as plot, language, form, genre, structure, characterisation and stage directions to communicate ideas
- mood and atmosphere
- performance style and use of theatrical devices
- relevant subject-specific vocabulary.

Knowledge and understanding

Students are required to:

- make creative decisions and theatrical choices as theatre makers
- explore in depth the ways in which theatre makers collaborate to create theatre by understanding how performers and designers use dramatic elements to communicate meaning and ideas to an audience
- have a knowledge of production values and be able to make clear choices about how a performance text might be realised in performance
- consider how language, genre, form and characterisation might be explored in performance
- consider how elements such as theatrical space, set, staging, lighting, sound, multimedia, masks, costume, puppets and props might be used in performance to communicate meaning to an audience
- know and understand appropriate subject-specific terminology.

Skills

Students must acquire, develop and apply skills in:

- forming critical judgements about the practice of theatre makers based on their understanding of drama and theatre
- responding to texts imaginatively conveying ideas clearly and coherently
- practically exploring the use of voice, movement, staging and characterisation
- practically exploring ways in which the ideas of key theatre makers are realised in performance
- the use of an appropriate subject-specific terminology
- analysing the ways in which different performance and production elements are brought together to create theatre.

3) Interpreting one performance text, in the light of one practitioner for a contemporary audience

Students must practically explore a complete performance text (from list B on the next page) in the light of a chosen practitioner (from the list on the next page) in order to outline and justify their ideas for a production concept. They will need to develop an integral understanding of the text as a whole in order to interpret it for a contemporary audience. Students will assume the role of a director and will need to outline and justify how different theatre makers and theatrical elements work alongside the methodologies of a recognised theatre practitioner. The practitioner chosen for this component needs to be different from the one studied in Component 1 (see pages 6 and 7).

Students must also research the original performance conditions and gain knowledge and understanding of the social, historical and cultural factors that are central to the context of the original text.

Interpreting a performance text may or may not include changes to performance style, historical period or setting. However, whilst changes and edits to the structure of the text are allowed, it is not an opportunity to cut the language or alter the meaning of the original text.

It is also important that students have an appreciation of the original aims and intentions of the playwright. In whatever way the production is interpreted by the student, the audience will always be contemporary (a 21st-century audience).

Students may prepare a director's script that will help them consider how their chosen text might be interpreted as a complete performance.

When considering how their chosen performance text might be interpreted and staged in the light of a practitioner students should consider:

- their intended audience and an appropriate theatrical venue/space
- staging and visual impact
- how the use of design elements such as set, lighting, sound, costume, multimedia, masks, props and puppets might help to communicate ideas to an audience
- the acting style of key roles including the use of characterisation, vocal expression and movement
- the original performance conditions and the historical, social and cultural context of the text.

Practical work should, as appropriate, include exploration of:

- characterisation of key roles
- staging and space
- visual communication
- design elements
- relationship between actor and audience
- ways in which the playwright has structured the text and uses elements such as plot, language, form, structure, characterisation and stage directions to communicate ideas to an audience
- mood and atmosphere
- performance style and theatrical devices
- practitioner methodology
- historical, social and cultural context and its relevance to themselves and a contemporary audience
- relevant subject-specific vocabulary.

Centres must choose one of the following performance texts to study.

Performance text (List B)	Recommended edition
Antigone , Sophocles (adapted by Don Taylor)	Methuen ISBN 9780413776044
Doctor Faustus , Christopher Marlowe*†	Norton & Company ISBN 9780393977547

Lysistrata , Aristophanes (translated by Alan H. Sommerstein)†	Penguin Classics ISBN 9780140448146
The Maids , Jean Genet (translated by Bernard Frechtman)	Faber & Faber ISBN: 9780571251148
The School for Scandal , Richard Brinsley Sheridan	Dover Thrift ISBN 9780486266879

Woyzeck , Georg Büchner (translated by John Mackendrick)†	Berg Publishing ISBN 9780413388209

* This edition has two versions of the text and centres should use Text A only

† These texts are available as PDF downloads from the Pearson website – qualifications.pearson.com/en/qualifications/edexcel-a-levels/drama-and-theatre-2016.coursematerials.

In the examination the page numbers from both the recommended editions and the PDF versions will be given.

Students must take clean copies of list B texts into the examination. Students will respond to an unseen named section from their chosen performance text in the examination.

The unseen named section will normally be between 90-110 lines long.

It is strongly recommended that the editions above are used by centres as these will be used to specify page references for each unseen named section in the examination.

The centre must ensure that only clean copies are used in the examination. Clean copies of prescribed texts must be checked prior to entering the examination and if texts are found to not be clean, then the copy must be taken from the student. Any infringements of this requirement found during the examination must be reported to Pearson and will be treated as a malpractice issue.

Practitioners

The practitioner chosen from the list below should be different to the one studied in Component 1.

Antonin Artaud	Kneehigh
Bertolt Brecht	Joan Littlewood
Steven Berkoff	Punchdrunk
Complicite	Constantin Stanislavski

Centres are reminded that they must complete a form regarding text and practitioner choices, please refer to page 7 for details.

Knowledge and understanding

Students are required to:

- explore a complete and substantial set text from the viewpoint of a theatre director
- make creative decisions and theatrical choices as a theatre director
- demonstrate an understanding of production methods used to communicate a directorial concept and interpretation to an audience
- explore and develop ideas that will shape a complete production concept and interpretation
- understand how directors communicate ideas to an audience and how the meaning of a text might be interpreted and communicated to an audience
- participate in practical exploration that considers the ways in which the playwright has structured the text and uses plot, language, form, structure, characterisation and stagecraft to communicate ideas to an audience
- consider how the application of dramatic elements (for example, physicality, vocal expression, set, sound, light, costume, masks, puppets, props and space) contribute to the development and shaping of ideas in performance
- develop an understanding and appreciation of how practitioner theory and practice has influenced the development of drama and theatre
- consider how the work of a chosen theatre practitioner might inform or influence a production concept of their chosen text
- explore the potential for staging texts, taking into consideration any relevant stage directions
- develop an understanding of historical, social and cultural contexts including the original performance conditions
- know and understanding appropriate subject-specific terminology.

Students must acquire knowledge and understanding of how their chosen practitioner has used the following to convey meaning through:

- the social and historical contexts that shaped the theatre practice
- the ideas, theatrical purpose, practice and working methodologies underpinning their work
- the realisation of their artistic intention
- the use of theatrical style and conventions
- collaboration with and influence on other practitioners
- how the relationship with audiences is defined in theory and then carried out in practice.

Skills

Students must acquire, develop and apply skills in:

- forming critical judgements about the practice of theatre makers based on their understanding of drama and theatre
- responding to texts imaginatively conveying ideas clearly and coherently
- practically exploring the use of voice, movement, staging and characterisation
- practically exploring ways in which the ideas of the director are interpreted in performance
- the use of an appropriate subject-specific terminology
- analysing the ways in which different performance and production elements are brought together to create theatre
- applying practitioner methodology to their own dramatic interpretations
- using research to develop ideas in a variety of contexts.

Assessment information

- First assessment: May/June 2018.
- The written examination is 2 hours and 30 minutes.
- The assessment is out of 80 marks.
- Students must answer one extended response question on the performance they have seen in Section A. For Section B they answer two questions related to an unseen extract from the performance text they have studied. In Section C they have one question based on an unseen named section of the complete performance text and practitioner they have chosen.
- Section A: Live Theatre Evaluation
 - o Consists of a choice of two extended response questions that students must answer on the live theatre performance.
 - o Their response must analyse and evaluate a live theatre experience in response to a given statement.
 - o Worth 20 marks. AO4 is assessed
 - o Students may take in notes, however these notes must be attached to the form provided in Appendix 2.
- Section B: Page to Stage: Realising a Performance Text
 - o Consists of two extended response questions that students must answer based on an unseen extract from their chosen performance text.
 - o The questions ask students to demonstrate how they, as theatre makers, intend to realise the extract in performance.
 - o Students will need to demonstrate an understanding of the extract within the context of the whole text and respond from the point of view of a performer and a designer.
 - o Worth 36 marks. AO3 is assessed.
 - o Performance texts are not allowed in the examination as extracts will be provided.
- Section C: Interpreting a Performance Text
 - o Consists of a choice of two extended response based on unseen named section of the chosen performance text. Students are required to demonstrate how their re-imagined production concept (of the complete chosen text) will communicate ideas to a contemporary audience.

- o Students will also have to outline how the work of their chosen theatre practitioner has influenced their overall production concept and demonstrate an awareness of the performance text in its original performance conditions.
- o Worth 24 marks. AO3 is assessed.
- o Clean copies of performance texts must be taken into the examination for this section, but no other printed materials, please see page 7 for specific information about the requirements.

Synoptic assessment

Synoptic assessment requires students to work across different parts of a qualification and to show their accumulated knowledge and understanding of a topic or subject area.

Synoptic assessment enables students to show their ability to combine their skills, knowledge and understanding with breadth and depth of the subject.

This component assesses synopticity drawing on the knowledge, understanding and skills learned in Components 1 and 2.

Sample assessment materials

A sample paper and mark scheme for this component can be found in the Pearson Edexcel Level 3 Advanced GCE in Drama and Theatre Sample Assessment Materials (SAMs) document.

3 Administration and general information

Entries

Details of how to enter students for the examinations for this qualification can be found in our UK Information Manual. A copy is made available to all examinations officers and is available on our website: qualifications.pearson.com

Discount code and performance tables

Centres should be aware that students who enter for more than one GCE qualification with the same discount code will have only one of the grades they achieve counted for the purpose of the School and College Performance Tables. This will be the grade for the larger qualification (i.e. the A Level grade rather than the AS grade). If the qualifications are the same size, then the better grade will be counted) (please see Appendix 9: Codes).

Please note that there are two codes for AS GCE qualifications; one for Key Stage 4 (KS4) performance tables and one for 16-19 performance tables. If a KS4 student achieves both a GCSE and an AS with the same discount code, then AS result will be counted over the GCSE result.

Students should be advised that, if they take two GCE qualifications with the same discount code, colleges, universities and employers they wish to progress to are likely to take the view that this achievement is equivalent to only one GCE. The same view may be taken if students take two GCE qualifications that have different discount codes but which have significant overlap of content. Students or their advisers who have any doubts about their subject combinations should check with the institution to which they wish to progress before embarking on their programmes.

Access arrangements, reasonable adjustments, special consideration and malpractice

Equality and fairness are central to our work. Our equality policy requires all students to have equal opportunity to access our qualifications and assessments, and our qualifications to be awarded in a way that is fair to every student.

We are committed to making sure that:

- students with a protected characteristic (as defined by the Equality Act 2010) are not, when they are undertaking one of our qualifications, disadvantaged in comparison to students who do not share that characteristic
- all students achieve the recognition they deserve for undertaking a qualification and that this achievement can be compared fairly to the achievement of their peers.

Language of assessment

Assessment of this qualification will be available in English. All student work must be in English.

Access arrangements

Access arrangements are agreed before an assessment. They allow students with special educational needs, disabilities or temporary injuries to:

- access the assessment
- show what they know and can do without changing the demands of the assessment.

The intention behind an access arrangement is to meet the particular needs of an individual student with a disability, without affecting the integrity of the assessment. Access arrangements are the principal way in which awarding bodies comply with the duty under the Equality Act 2010 to make 'reasonable adjustments'.

Access arrangements should always be processed at the start of the course. Students will then know what is available and have the access arrangement(s) in place for assessment.

Reasonable adjustments

The Equality Act 2010 requires an awarding organisation to make reasonable adjustments where a person with a disability would be at a substantial disadvantage in undertaking an assessment. The awarding organisation is required to take reasonable steps to overcome that disadvantage.

A reasonable adjustment for a particular person may be unique to that individual and therefore might not be in the list of available access arrangements.

Whether an adjustment will be considered reasonable will depend on a number of factors, which will include:

- the needs of the student with the disability
- the effectiveness of the adjustment
- the cost of the adjustment; and
- the likely impact of the adjustment on the student with the disability and other students.

An adjustment will not be approved if it involves unreasonable costs to the awarding organisation, timeframes or affects the security or integrity of the assessment. This is because the adjustment is not 'reasonable'.

Special consideration

Special consideration is a post-examination adjustment to a student's mark or grade to reflect temporary injury, illness or other indisposition at the time of the examination/assessment, which has had, or is reasonably likely to have had, a material effect on a candidate's ability to take an assessment or demonstrate their level of attainment in an assessment.

In relation to live theatre access for Component 3, any extenuating circumstances requests, which come through via special arrangement, will be dealt with on a case by case basis.

Further information

Please see our website for further information about how to apply for access arrangements and special consideration.

For further information about access arrangements, reasonable adjustments and special consideration, please refer to the JCQ website: www.jcq.org.uk.

Malpractice

Candidate malpractice

Candidate malpractice refers to any act by a candidate that compromises or seeks to compromise the process of assessment or which undermines the integrity of the qualifications or the validity of results/certificates.

Candidate malpractice in non-examination assessment discovered before the candidate has signed the declaration of authentication form does not need to be reported to Pearson.

Candidate malpractice found in non-examination assessment after the declaration of authenticity has been signed, and in examinations must be reported to Pearson on a JCQ M1 Form (available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice). The completed form can be emailed to pqsmalpractice@pearson.com or posted to Investigations Team, Pearson, 190 High Holborn, London WC1V 7BH. Please provide as much information and supporting documentation as possible. Note that the final decision regarding appropriate sanctions lies with Pearson.

Failure to report candidate malpractice constitutes staff or centre malpractice.

Staff/centre malpractice

Staff and centre malpractice includes both deliberate malpractice and maladministration of our qualifications. As with candidate malpractice, staff and centre malpractice is any act that compromises or seeks to compromise the process of assessment or undermines the integrity of the qualifications or the validity of results/certificates. Centres should be aware that if they do not submit the online forms relating to contrasting text requirements or the live performance statement, then this may result in centre malpractice/maladministration. If there are extenuating circumstances that prevent students from seeing live theatre performance, centres need to apply for special arrangements and if centres fail to do this, it may result in centre malpractice/maladministration.

All cases of suspected staff malpractice and maladministration must be reported immediately, before any investigation is undertaken by the centre, to Pearson on a JCQ M2 (a) Form (available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice). The form, supporting documentation and as much information as possible can be emailed to pqsmalpractice@pearson.com or posted to Investigations Team, Pearson, 190 High Holborn, London WC1V 7BH. Note that the final decision regarding appropriate sanctions lies with Pearson. Failure to report malpractice itself constitutes malpractice.

More-detailed guidance on malpractice can be found in the latest version of the document JCQ General and Vocational Qualifications Suspected Malpractice in Examinations and Assessments, available at www.jcq.org.uk/exams-office/malpractice.

Centre marking training will be organised by Pearson and will include training on the administrative requirements and best practice so as to avoid potential maladministration and/or malpractice.

Examiners and moderators for the non-examination assessment components will be trained in the administrative arrangements that are required of centres. The following examples of possible centre maladministration or malpractice should be brought to the attention of Pearson:

- incorrect group sizes
- incorrect times allocated to groups
- recordings not being made
- recordings not sent to examiner
- recordings sent in unusable format
- candidate costume making candidates hard to identify
- candidates not identified on recordings
- inappropriate use of non-assessed candidates
- extremely small roles allocated to candidates.

Awarding and reporting

This qualification will be graded, awarded and certificated to comply with the requirements of Ofqual's General Conditions of Recognition.

The raw marks for Components 1, 2 and 3 in this qualification will be scaled by Pearson to represent the relative weighting of 40% for Component 1, 20% for Component 2 and 40% for Component 3. Any marks submitted by the centre should be in raw marks based on the assessment grids for Component 1.

Component	Weighting	Raw marks	Scaling factor	Scaling mark
1	40%	80	1.5	120
2	20%	60	1.0	60
3	40%	80	1.5	120

This A Level qualification will be graded and certificated on a six-grade scale from A* to E using the total subject mark. Individual components are not graded.

Students whose level of achievement is below the minimum judged by Pearson to be of sufficient standard to be recorded on a certificate will receive an unclassified U result.

The first certification opportunity for this qualification will be 2018.

Student recruitment and progression

Pearson follows the JCQ policy concerning recruitment to our qualifications in that:

- they must be available to anyone who is capable of reaching the required standard
- they must be free from barriers that restrict access and progression
- equal opportunities exist for all students.

Prior learning and other requirements

There are no prior learning or other requirements for this qualification.

Students who would benefit most from studying this qualification are likely to have a Level 2 qualification such as a GCSE in Drama and AS level Drama and Theatre.

Progression

Students can progress from this qualification to:

- drama schools, university courses that relate directly to drama and theatre
- university courses that will benefit from the skills acquired from this GCE, for example law, human resources, people management
- employment where people skills are essential, for example management, retail, nursing, industry and business environments
- employment where time management, confidence, the ability to work collaboratively and to meet deadlines are desirable.

Appendix 3: Design roles minimum resource guidance for centres

Centres intending to offer design routes to students need to ensure they have the resources and appropriate equipment to support the students, so that they can meet the demands of this qualification.

Centres must provide a performance space appropriate to the performance that has adequate space for technicians and well as actors and audience.

The student is in the role of the designer not the technician, wardrobe manager, costume maker, carpenter or craftsperson, although they will have to be involved in the execution of the design.

Design role	Resource guidance
Costume design	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students will have to work within specified budget constraints to realise their design. • They should have access to an appropriate range of construction materials and, if required the equipment needed to manufacture the costumes. The ability to manufacture the costume is not a specification requirement though candidates need to be involved in the execution of the design. • Students may source individual elements for their costume design(s), however no complete costume can be sourced. • Health and safety risk assessments should be completed to ensure compliance with safety standards.
Lighting design	Students need access to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a minimum of three different types of lantern • lighting bars or stands with T bars from which to hang lanterns • a minimum of twelve independently controllable channels. • a lighting console, this may be manual or programmable but should allow for cross fading and facilitate two-preset operation • health and safety risk assessments should be completed to ensure compliance with safety standards.
Set design	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students will have to work within specified budget constraints to realise their design. • They should have access to an appropriate range of construction materials and, if required the equipment required to manufacture the set. The ability to manufacture the set is not a specification requirement though students need to be involved in the execution of the design. • Set and construction materials may come from the centre's stock or can be hired/purchased. • Health and safety risk assessments should be completed to ensure compliance with safety standards.

Design role	Resource guidance
Sound design	Students need access to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a sound reproduction system • sound processing devices • at least two different types of microphone • access to pre-recorded sound sources • health and safety risk assessments should be completed to ensure compliance with safety standards.

Appendix 4: Best practice when recording performance

The following guidance applies for the non-examination assessment components when recorded evidence is required for assessment purposes.

The purpose of the recording is to evidence all marks awarded, therefore all recordings must be made under examination conditions.

It must be understood that the performances and the recording of these are for examination purposes only. Any performances or recordings of performances undertaken by centres outside of the context of the examination must seek copyright permission for works in copyright.

1. All recordings must be complete and unedited for each performance.
2. The camera must be positioned to ensure the best possible and unobstructed recording is made of the performance, as it would be seen by the marker/examiner.
3. Each student should introduce themselves at the start of each recording. They should provide the following information:
 - name and candidate number
 - details of the performance or design role.

Before the assessment:

4. Check resources for the recording.
 - Ensure that the camera being used has appropriate facilities for adjusting recorded sound levels – particularly if the camera is to be positioned some distance from the students.
 - Check that the picture recorded by the camera is clear enough to identify individual students.
 - Ensure that memory cards have sufficient space for each recording.
 - Check the camera battery is charged and a power lead is plugged in/available if needed.
5. Clear student identification.
 - Plan with students costumes that will support identification on the recording, for example, different coloured t-shirts or jackets; distinct costume or prop items.
 - Test how these costumes look on camera from an identification point of view, particularly for students in large groups.
 - When watching work prior to the marking, check that students' use of stage space can be captured by the camera.
 - Make any preparation for identification needed, for example:
 - o A4 sheets stating student name and number in a large font for students to hold up to camera as part of the introduction
 - o full length group photographs or static shot of students in costume (for visiting examiner assessment)
 - o labelled screen shots of students in performance (for moderator assessment).
 - Ensure that students have had an opportunity to practice giving clear, well-paced introductions stating both name and candidate number.
 - Make a note on the appropriate paperwork of costume/costume changes for each candidate.

NB: Centres must not allow students to be costumed very similarly for example, all in black, as this is not supportive of the assessment process.

Students are assessed as individuals and as such, it is vital that they can be identified individually throughout all assessed performances.

6. Test the camera.
 - Record a small section of work (perhaps a dress rehearsal) using the actual camera needed for the performance with students speaking in the performance space.
 - Check that an audio signal has been recorded and that students can be seen without obstruction and heard clearly.
 - Adjust camera position and/or recording levels as needed.

At the beginning of the assessment:

7. Position the camera as practised.
8. Recording must begin with all students in a full length group shot, as they appear in performance.
9. Film each performance, beginning with the student introductions. Each student must then introduce themselves, with a clear pace and at audible volume, stating name, student number and role(s). Students must also describe and/or show any costume changes.

NB: The performance for that group must follow the introductions in a single recording.

During the performance:

10. Check that recording is taking place for each group and that students are fully visible on screen.
11. Check available power/battery/memory as needed in between the examination performances.

After the examination:

12. Check the recordings, ensuring that each group has been recorded with audio.
13. Ensure that all recordings are backed up as well as transferred to the appropriate format for assessment.
14. Recording should be saved with the centre number, qualification title and the relevant component number.
15. Ensure that the recordings are kept secure until sent to Pearson and any backups kept safely until after EARs (enquiries about results).

Appendix 5: Mark penalty tables for performances/design realisations not meeting the minimum assessment time – Component 2

The proportional time penalty will be applied, by Pearson Edexcel, after the work has been marked by the examiner, using the conversion tables below.

Examiners will be required to only apply the assessment criteria as presented on pages 43–54.

The penalty is proportional to the performance length.

Appendix 6: The context for the development of this qualification

All our qualifications are designed to meet our World Class Qualification Principles^[1] and our ambition to put the student at the heart of everything we do.

We have developed and designed this qualification by:

- reviewing other curricula and qualifications to ensure that it is comparable with those taken in high-performing jurisdictions overseas
- consulting with key stakeholders on content and assessment, including learned bodies, subject associations, higher-education academics and teachers to ensure this qualification is suitable for a UK context
- reviewing the legacy qualification and building on its positive attributes.

This qualification has also been developed to meet criteria stipulated by Ofqual in their documents GCE Qualification Level Conditions and Requirements and GCE Subject Level Conditions and Requirements for Drama and Theatre published in May 2015.

^[1] Pearson's World Class Qualification Principles ensure that our qualifications are:

- demanding, through internationally benchmarked standards, encouraging deep learning and measuring higher-order skills
- rigorous, through setting and maintaining standards over time, developing reliable and valid assessment tasks and processes, and generating confidence in end users of the knowledge, skills and competencies of certified students
- inclusive, through conceptualising learning as continuous, recognising that students develop at different rates and have different learning needs, and focusing on progression
- empowering, through promoting the development of transferable skills, see Appendix 7.

From Pearson's Expert Panel for World Class Qualifications

May 2014

“ The reform of the qualifications system in England is a profoundly important change to the education system. Teachers need to know that the new qualifications will assist them in helping their learners make progress in their lives.

When these changes were first proposed we were approached by Pearson to join an 'Expert Panel' that would advise them on the development of the new qualifications.

We were chosen, either because of our expertise in the UK education system, or because of our experience in reforming qualifications in other systems around the world as diverse as Singapore, Hong Kong, Australia and a number of countries across Europe.

We have guided Pearson through what we judge to be a rigorous qualification development process that has included:

- extensive international comparability of subject content against the highest-performing jurisdictions in the world
- benchmarking assessments against UK and overseas providers to ensure that they are at the right level of demand
- establishing External Subject Advisory Groups, drawing on independent subject-specific expertise to challenge and validate our qualifications
- subjecting the final qualifications to scrutiny against the DfE content and Ofqual accreditation criteria in advance of submission.

Importantly, we have worked to ensure that the content and learning is future oriented. The design has been guided by what is called an 'Efficacy Framework', meaning learner outcomes have been at the heart of this development throughout.

We understand that ultimately it is excellent teaching that is the key factor to a learner's success in education. As a result of our work as a panel we are confident that we have supported the development of qualifications that are outstanding for their coherence, thoroughness and attention to detail and can be regarded as representing world-class best practice. ”

Appendix 7: Transferable skills

The need for transferable skills

In recent years, higher education institutions and employers have consistently flagged the need for students to develop a range of transferable skills to enable them to respond with confidence to the demands of undergraduate study and the world of work.

The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) defines skills, or competencies, as 'the bundle of knowledge, attributes and capacities that can be learned and that enable individuals to successfully and consistently perform an activity or task and can be built upon and extended through learning.'^[1]

To support the design of our qualifications, the Pearson Research Team selected and evaluated seven global 21st-century skills frameworks. Following on from this process, we identified the National Research Council's (NRC) framework as the most evidence-based and robust skills framework. We adapted the framework slightly to include the Program for International Student Assessment (PISA) ICT Literacy and Collaborative Problem Solving (CPS) Skills.

The adapted National Research Council's framework of skills involves:^[2]

Cognitive skills

- Non-routine problem solving – expert thinking, metacognition, creativity.
- Systems thinking – decision making and reasoning.
- Critical thinking – definitions of critical thinking are broad and usually involve general cognitive skills such as analysing, synthesising and reasoning skills.
- ICT literacy – access, manage, integrate, evaluate, construct and communicate.^[3]

Interpersonal skills

- Communication – active listening, oral communication, written communication, assertive communication and non-verbal communication.
- Relationship-building skills – teamwork, trust, intercultural sensitivity, service orientation, self-presentation, social influence, conflict resolution and negotiation.
- Collaborative problem solving – establishing and maintaining shared understanding, taking appropriate action, establishing and maintaining team organisation.

Intrapersonal skills

- Adaptability – ability and willingness to cope with the uncertain, handling work stress, adapting to different personalities, communication styles and cultures, and physical adaptability to various indoor and outdoor work environments.
- Self-management and self-development – ability to work remotely in virtual teams, work autonomously, be self-motivating and self-monitoring, willing and able to acquire new information and skills related to work.

Transferable skills enable young people to face the demands of further and higher education, as well as the demands of the workplace, and are important in the teaching and learning of this qualification. We will provide teaching and learning materials, developed with stakeholders, to support our qualifications.

Appendix 8: Level 3 Extended Project qualification

What is the Extended Project?

The Extended Project is a standalone qualification that can be taken alongside GCEs. It supports the development of independent learning skills and helps to prepare students for their next step – whether that be higher education study or employment. The qualification:

- is recognised by higher education for the skills it develops
- is worth half of an Advanced GCE qualification at grades A*–E
- carries UCAS points for university entry.

The Extended Project encourages students to develop skills in the following areas: project management, research, the development and realisation of a performance project and evaluation, critical thinking, extended writing and project management. Students identify and agree a topic area of their choice for in-depth study (which may or may not be related to a GCE subject they are already studying), guided by their teacher.

Students can choose from one of four approaches to produce:

- a dissertation (for example an investigation based on secondary research)
- an investigation/field study (for example a practical experiment)
- a performance (for example in theatre or drama)
- an artefact (for example creating a sculpture in response to a client brief or solving an engineering problem).

The qualification is higher education based and students are assessed on the skills of managing, planning and evaluating their project. Students will research their topic, develop skills to review and evaluate the information, and then present the final outcome of their project.

The Extended Project has 120 guided learning hours (GLH) consisting of a 40-GLH taught element that includes teaching the technical skills (for example research skills) and an 80-GLH guided element that includes mentoring students through the project work. The qualification is 100% internally assessed and externally moderated.

How to link the Extended Project with Drama and Theatre

The Extended Project creates the opportunity to develop transferable skills for progression to higher education and to the workplace, through the exploration of either an area of personal interest or a topic of interest from within the drama and theatre qualification content.

Through the Extended Project students will develop skills that support their study of Drama and Theatre, including:

- conducting, organising and using research
- independent research in the subject area
- planning, project management and time management
- consideration of alternative methods and techniques
- evaluating arguments and processes
- critical thinking.

In the context of the Extended Project, critical thinking refers to the ability to identify and develop arguments for a point of view or hypothesis and to consider and respond to alternative arguments and methods.

Types of Extended Project related to Drama and Theatre

Students may produce a performance on any topic, theme or issue that can be researched and argued, for example, corruption, rights and responsibilities or women in society.

The performance can use primary and/or secondary research sources to provide a reasoned defence or a point of view, with consideration of counter-arguments, to raise awareness, and to consider alternatives.

An alternative might be, for example:

- the impact of unemployment on a community
- child poverty.

A project might consider an issue that lends itself to experiential research, for example, a visit to the theatre or taking part in a workshop.

Using the Extended Project to support breadth and depth

In the Extended Project, students are assessed on the quality of the work they produce and the skills they develop and demonstrate through completing this work. Students should demonstrate that they have extended themselves in some significant way beyond what they have been studying in drama and theatre. Students can demonstrate extension in one or more dimensions:

- deepening understanding – where a student explores a topic in greater depth than in the specification content. This could be an in-depth exploration of one aspect of the broad pre-release context
- broadening skills – where a student learns a new skill or acting style
- widening perspectives – where the student's project spans different subjects. A student studying drama with geography may wish to research the impact of tourism on a particular region or locality.

A wide range of information to support the delivery and assessment of the Extended Project, including the specification, teacher guidance for all aspects, an editable scheme of work and exemplars for all four approaches, can be found on our website.
