Parents' Bulletin

Dear Parents

The hot weather has brought out the best and occasionally the not so best in our students. Our year 10 students sat through a Maths mock exam yesterday and an English mock exam today in the Sports Hall and despite the sweltering conditions, their behaviour was excellent and we trust their results will be too.

I remember that when I was young, high temperatures, particularly at night, seemed unbearable and I think that we can tolerate the heat much better as we age. Some students arrived on Monday clearly tired and distracted but coming to terms with such conditions and pressing on with the job in hand is an attitude and perhaps a skill that we have to learn. Things should cool down from tomorrow and by sports day should be just right – not too hot and not too much direct sunlight. Whether that will do for the Year 11 Prom is another matter.

A Block Cladding

Those of you who remember the recladding of A Block might wonder whether the cladding is anything like the cladding on Grenfell Tower that, according to conjecture contributed to the rapid spread of the fire.

The panels are not the same, meeting all building regulations. The building is not residential, has two sets of stairs and our response to any automatic alarm is flight, not remain. We are confident that the rapid evacuation times we record in practices and the automatic fire detection systems will ensure the safety of all of our students.

Open Evening

This takes place on the 29th June. We are broadening the scope of what we show to include the huge number of trips and extra-curricular activities that we offer – a real strength to the school that perhaps we have underplayed in the past.

Mr German, our new Headteacher, will be present. I can talk about the huge progress we have made in the past two years but he will be there to talk about the future, and I, for one, am looking forward to hearing him.

It is customary, as the Headteacher who is leaving, not to get involved in the appointment of the new Head and although the handing over process will be detailed and thorough, this will be the first opportunity to listen to his views.

Level 3 Heatwave

In case you hadn't noticed, it is hot and we attach the advice from the Department of Health in the Bulletin.

Although some of the advice seems a little patronizing, it is extraordinary how many people allow themselves to get into health threatening positions in the heat. As someone who has managed to suffer heat exhaustion not once but twice, it is not just a matter of ignorance or poor judgement, but then I would say that.

SUMMER READING CHALLENGE – VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The theme for this year's summer Reading Challenge is Animal Agents. The challenge runs over the summer from 15th July to 16th September and is aimed at children aged 4 to 11 years.

Yateley Library is looking for volunteers to help with the Summer Reading Challenge. Volunteers need to be a minimum of 14 years old. Duties will include signing up children for the challenge, talking to them about the books they have read, giving out stickers and awarding certificates.

This is a great opportunity for students to boost their CV or university application, and can be used towards the volunteering component for Duke of Edinburgh students. The library is also looking for parents or grandparents to volunteer their time too. You decide on how many hours of volunteering you can commit to. Please pop in or email the library on yateley.library@hants.gov.uk if you would like to help.
